1. Qualitative Information Regarding Financial Results for the Nine Months Ended December 31, 2017

(1) Information Regarding Operating Results

The global economy during the nine months ended December 31, 2017, remained on a modest rebound track primarily in developed countries. The United States maintained steady economic growth, backed by an improvement in the employment situation and an increase in individual consumption and capital expenditures. European economies, especially in the euro-zone, continued a moderate recovery due to an improvement in capital investment and productivity. The Chinese economy showed some signs of a partial rally in the market due to the effects of the government's various economic measures, and economic growth in other emerging countries in Asia also remained on a recovery track. Amid these conditions, the Japanese economy continued to recover gradually as a result of the ongoing improvement in the employment and income environment and increased exports and capital investment supported by the steady recovery of the global economy.

Among the industries in which Hitachi Metals Group (the "Group") operates, in the automobile industry, sales in Japan significantly increased, led by strong demand for new models; and Europe and China also showed steady demand, while sales in new vehicles decreased in the United States compared with those for the nine months ended December 31, 2016. Demand for steel increased mainly in the manufacturing sector, including automobile and industrial machinery. The number of new housing starts remained at the same level. In the electronics industry, mobile device shipments increased.

Under the business circumstances described above, for the nine months ended December 31, 2017, revenues of the Group increased by 10.0% to ¥733,133 million, compared with those for the nine months ended December 31, 2016. This result was affected mainly by a rise in raw materials prices (a sliding-scale raw material price system) and the depreciation of the yen, in addition to an increase in demand for mainstays. Adjusted operating income* increased by ¥642 million to ¥47,821 million, compared with those for the nine months ended December 31, 2016, mainly due to an increase in income associated with increased revenue and effects of cost reduction activities, despite a rise in costs associated with active investment and raw materials prices. Operating income decreased by ¥7,178 million to ¥42,393 million, compared with that for the nine months ended December 31, 2016, due to the recording of a gain on business reorganization and others as other operating revenue in the same period of the prior year, as well as an increase in other expenses during the nine months ended December 31, 2017. For the nine months ended December 31, 2017, income before income taxes decreased by ¥3,553 million to ¥44,089 million and net income attributable to shareholders of the parent company decreased by ¥1,385 million to ¥34,808 million, compared with those for the nine months ended December 31, 2016.

Results by business segment are as follows. Note that revenues for each segment include intersegment revenues. There were no changes to the businesses of the Group during the nine months ended December 31, 2017.

The Group has changed its segment names from "High-Grade Metal Products and Materials" to "Specialty Steel Products" and from "High-Grade Functional Components and Equipment" to "Functional Components and Equipment" effective from April 1, 2017. This change in segment names does not affect the segment information.

The Company has also changed the business segment of SH Copper Products Co., Ltd, a subsidiary of the Company, and one other subsidiary from the Wires, Cables, and Related Products segment to the Specialty Steel Products segment as of July 1, 2017, aiming to strengthen battery-related components in the Specialty Steel Products segment. Due to this change, the results of SH Copper Products, etc. for the nine months ended December 31, 2017, have been recorded under the Specialty Steel Products segment.

Specialty Steel Products

Revenues in the Specialty Steel Products segment for the nine months ended December 31, 2017, were ¥215,310 million, an increase of 23.7%, and adjusted operating income increased by ¥3,177 million to ¥20,417 million, as compared with those for the nine months ended December 31, 2016. Operating income of the segment increased by ¥4,142 million to ¥20,049 million for the same period.

<Specialty Steel>

Sales of molds and tool steel exceeded those for nine months ended December 31, 2017, due to a recovery in demand for both Japan and Asia. Sales of industrial equipment materials increased overall compared with those for the nine months ended December 31, 2016, as sales of environmentally friendly products related to automobiles as well as other industrial components, in particular, components for semiconductor-related equipment, increased. Sales of alloys for electronic products significantly increased compared with those for the nine months ended December 31, 2016, due to strong sales in semiconductor package components in addition to increased sales of battery-related and organic EL panel-related components. Aircraft-related and energy-related materials showed weak sales.

<Rolls>

Sales of injection molding machine parts showed recovery resulting from an increase in demand for mobile devices. Meanwhile, in September 2016, the Group discontinued production of rolls at a Chinese subsidiary for the purpose of concentrating management resources in high value-added products. As a result, sales of rolls as a whole fell year on year.

<Soft Magnetic Materials and Applied Products>

Sales of soft magnetic materials and applied products as a whole fell below those for the nine months ended December 31, 2016, due to a drop in demand of amorphous metals, although sales of applied products for mobile devices and automobiles increased because of the robust demand.

Magnetic Materials and Applications

Revenues in the Magnetic Materials and Applications segment for the nine months ended December 31, 2017, were ¥79,188 million, an increase of 7.5%, and adjusted operating income increased by ¥479 million to ¥6,880 million, as compared with those for the nine months ended December 31, 2016. Operating income of the segment increased by ¥384 million to ¥6,783 million for the same period.

Sales of rare earth magnets overall exceeded those for the nine months ended December 31, 2016. The increase in sales is attributable to strong demand in automotive electronic components for electric power steering and hybrid automobiles and solid sales of industrial equipment, supported by increased capital investment-related demand for flat-panel displays, mobile devices, and semiconductors. Sales of ferrite magnets increased compared with those for the nine months ended December 31, 2016, due to strong demand for automotive electronic components, reflecting increased automobile production as well as a robust demand for household appliance parts.

Functional Components and Equipment

Revenues in the Functional Components and Equipment segment for the nine months ended December 31, 2017, were ¥266,574 million, an increase of 10.1%, while adjusted operating income decreased by ¥3,918 million to ¥8,501 million due to declined profitability of heat-resistant exhaust casting components and aluminum wheels, as compared with those for the nine months ended December 31, 2016. Also, operating income of the segment decreased by ¥4,659 million to ¥7,273 million for the same period.

<Casting Components for Automobiles>

Despite a slowdown in demand for casting components for pickup trucks and other light trucks as well as passenger vehicles in North America, sales of casting components for automobiles increased as a whole compared with those for the nine months ended December 31, 2016. This is due to an increase in demand for casting components for commercial vehicles, farming machinery, and construction machinery in North America, and increased demand for automobiles in Asia.

Revenues for heat-resistant exhaust casting components increased as compared with the same period of the prior year due to an increase in demand in the American, European, Asian and Japanese markets, but profits decreased for the same period due to productivity issues and other factors.

Sales of aluminum wheels fell below those for the nine months ended December 31, 2016, mainly affected by decreased demand for passenger vehicles in North America and productivity issues.

<Piping Components>

Sales of pipe fittings were robust due to an increased number of new housing starts in the United States, an increase in large construction projects in Japan, and strong performance in devices for semiconductor manufacturing equipment, reflecting an increase in demand for semiconductor-related equipment.

Wires, Cables, and Related Products

Due to effects of a reorganization conducted for the purpose of renewing the Group's business portfolio, revenues in the Wires, Cables, and Related Products segment for the nine months ended December 31, 2017, were ¥171,380 million, a decrease of 2.6% while adjusted operating income increased by ¥879 million to ¥10,923 million, as compared with those for the nine months ended December 31, 2016, because of the expansion of the focused fields. Operating income for the segment decreased by ¥7,169 million to ¥7,396 million for the same period, due to the recording of a gain on business reorganization and others as other operating revenue in the same period of the prior year, as well as an increase in other expenses during the nine months ended December 31, 2017.

<Electric Wires and Cables>

Sales of wires and cables for rolling stock grew significantly, including growth in China. Sales of electric wires for semiconductor manufacturing equipment and working tools increased, and magnet wires for automobiles and industrial machinery also resulted in greater sales.

<High Performance Components>

Demand for various sensors, harnesses for electric parking brakes and hybrid automobiles increased, and demand for brake hoses was also strong. Sales of probe cables for medical use increased as compared with the same period of the prior year due to increased demand in overseas countries.

Other

Revenues in the Other segment for the nine months ended December 31, 2017, were ¥2,465 million, an increase of 11.8%, and adjusted operating income decreased by ¥31 million to ¥130 million, as compared with those for the nine months ended December 31, 2016. Operating income of the segment decreased by ¥79 million to ¥126 million for the same period.

*Adjusted operating income is the operating income recorded in the condensed interim consolidated statement of income, excluding non-operating income and expenses, and extraordinary income and losses. Adjusted operating income is a unified profit indicator for the Hitachi Group, including Hitachi, Ltd.

(2) Analysis of Financial Condition

1) Assets, liabilities, and equity

The analysis of changes in the Group's condensed interim consolidated statement of financial position as of the end of the period ended December 31, 2017, is as follows:

Total assets were ¥1,054,042 million, an increase of ¥13,652 million compared with the end of the fiscal year ended March 31, 2017. Current assets were ¥476,856 million, a decrease of ¥15,039 million compared with the end of the fiscal year ended March 31, 2017. This was mainly attributable to increases in trade receivables and inventories of ¥27,001 million and ¥34,316 million, respectively, and a decrease in cash and cash equivalents of ¥86,348 million. Non-current assets were ¥577,186 million, an increase of ¥28,691 million compared with the end of the fiscal year ended March 31, 2017. This was mainly attributable to increases in property, plant and equipment of ¥27,647 million, respectively.

Total liabilities were ¥480,280 million, a decrease of ¥11,364 million compared with the end of the fiscal year ended March 31, 2017. This was mainly attributable to the net effect of a decrease in current portion of long-term debt and long-term debt of ¥31,544 million in total and increases in short-term debt of ¥5,618 million and trade payables of ¥12,813 million. Total equity was ¥573,762 million, an increase of ¥25,016 million compared with the end of the fiscal year ended March 31, 2017. This was mainly attributable to an increase in retained earnings of ¥23,709 million.

2) Cash flows

Cash and cash equivalents as of December 31, 2017, were ¥53,063 million, a decrease of ¥86,348 million from March 31, 2017, as a result of net cash used in investing activities and financing activities exceeding the cash provided by operating activities.

The analysis of cash flows for each category as of December 31, 2017, is as follows:

<Cash Flows from Operating Activities>

Net cash provided by operating activities was ¥12,627 million. This was mainly attributable to net income of ¥34,849 million, and depreciation and amortization of ¥34,479 million despite of increases in trade receivables of ¥24,022 million, inventories of ¥32,409 million.

<Cash Flows from Investing Activities>

Net cash used in investing activities was ¥57,610 million, which was mainly attributable to payment of ¥58,791 million for the purchase of property, plant and equipment.

<Cash Flows from Financing Activities>

Net cash used in financing activities was ¥43,516 million. This was mainly attributable to a repayment of long-term debt of ¥31,877 million and a payment of dividends of ¥11,282 million to shareholders.

(3) Forecasts for the Fiscal Year Ending March 31, 2018, including Consolidated Operating Forecasts

Revenues of the Group have been trending above forecasts from the beginning of the fiscal year due to factors such as an increase in demand mainly for mainstays, a rise in raw materials prices (sliding-scale raw material price system) and depreciation of the yen. Profit, however, is expected to fall below the forecast from the beginning of the fiscal year due to factors including a drop in profitability of heat-resistant exhaust casting components and aluminum wheels, and an increase in costs owing to a rise in raw materials prices. As a result, we have revised the figures in the operating forecast for the fiscal year ending March 31, 2018 (April 1, 2017 through March 31, 2018) that was announced on April 28, 2017 as follows:
