

Sustainable Growth

Leveraging a heritage of cutting-edge assets

Origami is the Japanese art of folding colored paper into all manner of shapes and creations. At Hitachi Metals, we create all kinds of distinctive, high-performance materials and products in the automotive, electronics, energy and infrastructure fields by combining outstanding know-how in material development with profound technological expertise. Ever refining these skills, we aim to boost our new product sales ratio to 30% and advance our balance of stability and growth.

